United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change

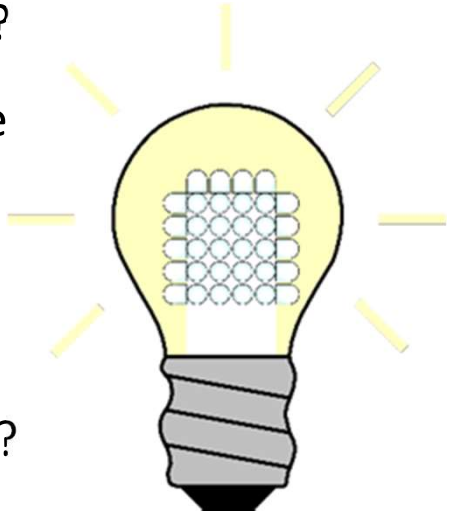
Lessons learned from other action plans

In-session workshop to develop possible elements of gender action plan

Bonn, Germany, 10 – 11 May 2017

Fleur Newman, Gender Focal Point

UNFCCC secretariat, Gender and Climate Change

- Gender action plan in other processes and institutions may offer lessons learned
- However, each action plan is context specific and supports a policy or framework or institution that has a particular purpose
- Structural differences between action plans applying to projects/programmes and institutional action plan
- In the case of the UNFCCC and the Lima work programme on gender, the purpose of the gender action plan is to 'support the implementation of gender-related decisions and mandates under the UNFCCC process'
- Actions need to related to the purpose


- What elements from other action plans might be useful when thinking about developing the gender action plan?
  - Concepts of strategic priorities and /or thematic issues?
  - Idea of reviewing and reporting on progress?
  - Results-based approach?
  - Identification of gaps / needs on implementation?
  - Collaboration between different actors to achieve implementation?
  - Communicating success and progress of results?
  - Engage with chairs of regional groups, members of constituted bodies on how to integrate gender?
  - Knowledge generation and communication?